Official Paper of Ormsby County

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6

A Fool-hardy Trick.

Sacramento, December 5.—Chas. E. Joyce, a market hunter, and Guy Madewell, a young lawyer, dared each other to-night to dive from the bridge over the Sacramento river. Both plunged head-first into the stream. Madewell swam to shore but Joyce never came to the surface. It is supposed he struck a submerged pile and was killed. Both men had been drinking. Joyce's relatives live at Elmira N. Y.

Not Quite Posted.

It is quite evident that there are still some men in Nevada who don't exactly understand how to vote the Australian ballot.

In the recount at Humboldt, 28 votes were cast at Rebel Creek and not one of them had the narrow perforated strip with the number on torn off. This is a direct violation of the law, as a simple reference to the poll book would show how every man voted. The Commissioner decided that the Rebel Creek ballots were legal and counted them in.

Intends to push the business! From now on until after the holidays, Geo. W. Kitzmeyer will sell, not old shelfworn goods, but of the latest style, plain, but, durable furniture, closer to cost than any dealer in the State.

Reno has already raised considerable money toward entertaining the members of the California Press Association, and Carson should not be behind in the procession.

The living picture, which must be a meritorious institution since it has gained popularity, is coming this way. A company of picture girls is enroute to Nevada from California.

The Milky way is to be seen in the heavens nightly pointing east and west; instead of north and south as heretofore. Look for yourself and study out the cause of the changes.

The Commissioners of Humboldt county are recounting the vote for Assemblymen. The Silver State says it was allowed on an affidavit made by A. R. Hardin, one of the candidates, setting forth his belief that errors were made in the count.

The $3,500 worth of diamonds stolen by J. W. Coleman, and for which he is now in jail at San Bernardino, were the property of his mother, Mrs. A. H. Spencer, of Los Angeles. Mrs. Spencer is unwilling to prosecute her son and is doing all in her power to obtain his release.

The "Sugar Beet," a paper published in Philadelphia in the interest of beet culture, says of Nevada: "The canal which is to tap Humboldt Lake will drain 15,000 acres of rich alluvial land, which is said to be well adapted to sugar beet culture. The claim is that the best beets in the world may be cultivated in Nevada."

Zion Wins.

Yesterday the case of J. M. Zion vs. the S. P. R. R. was tried in the U. S. Court. The plaintiff asked damages for being put off the department train at Reno. He alleged that he purchased a first-class unlin. ticket at Chicago to San Diego and return, No. 104. He traveled to San Diego and on returning was requested by the conductor to sign his name. He did so and the conductor claimed that it was not the same signature as appeared on the ticket. He was accordingly put off at Reno with his baggage.

The jury after being out half an hour returned a verdict for $1750.

For Over Fifty Years.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhea, twenty-five cents a bottle.

MIDWINTER FAIR MEDALS.

THEY ARE BEING DISTRIBUTED AMONG SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITORS.

Successful exhibitors at the Midwinter Fair, that is those who were awarded premiums, are receiving medals. These medals are of bronze and consist of a wreath surmounted by a spread eagle. The wreath incloses the image of a bear in the foreground and of the setting sun in the distance. It is suspended by a ribbon from a clasp on which is the inscription "California Midwinter International Exposition." At the bottom of the wreath is a star bearing the legend "Eureka 1894."

Secretary Stoddard, to whom the APPEAL is indebted for the above information, says that diplomas are also being sent to those awarded premiums among whom are the following Nevada exhibitors.

Where Does the Blame Belong

Ed. Journal:—You will remember that about two weeks ago I wrote an article for the paper which in substance called for an explanation in regard to the assessment of the V. & T. for the year 1894. I then expected that some one would afford the public, in whose interest I wrote, an explanation, but ever since that I waited in vain. No one charged with the responsibility of making just and equal assessments offered any excuse or explanation of any kind, and now I feel like making known the street rumors to the effect that it really was a job, and a dirty one, too.

Some of my neighbors have asked me on several occasions lately what redress the taxpayers of our county have where the Assessor, who gave bonds and took an oath to legally and equally assess the property of the county, and then so shamefully betrayed his trust. My opinion is that this is a matter for the Grand Jury.

If a public official can in a most wanton manner disregard the laws and conspire with a rich corporation to its financial gain to the extent of $1,500 what protection has the average taxpayer? If the V. & T. R. R. Co. can so influence one of our public officials as to secure a reduction of $70,875 on its assessment without the public in any manner being aware of the fact until too late to remedy, then I think it time to make it known that said average taxpayer has no rights which county officials are required to respect, and if it be true, as reported on the streets of Reno, that this assessment was made in such covert manner as to mislead the Board of Equalization and cause it to overlook the rigger in the fence, then the aid of our criminal courts should be invoked and the guilty punished.

No much for now. Possibly more anon.

H. H. Beck.

Reno, December 4, 1894.
